'Enough' was the message reader says

So Cranston's assistant (aide) says there's no clear message to politicians in Proposition 13? It's that kind of bureaucratic thinking that voters are getting sick and tired of. The message was "ENOUGH." Enough already. From what I've heard most politicians got the message. Maybe Cranston is a little dense.

Merchants seek changes

Downtown hard to find

By PAT SAFFORD

FOLKS MAY know their way to San Jose, as the pop song goes, but downtown Campbell is a little harder to find.

Vern LaMar, chairman of the Downtown Task Force, appeared before Campbell city councilmen Monday night to present three requests of downtown merchants and property owners. At the top of their list was the need for more signs so people can find their way to the downtown business district.

"We receive phone calls from people trying to find us . . . often," LaMar told city officials. He said merchants need additional signs to direct them downtown from the Salmar ave. — Hamilton area and more signs along the loop street.

Merchants have also asked for better access to downtown from the Highway 17 - Hamilton intersection and that the city take a look at converting downtown Campbell avenue back into a two-way street (it presently carries eastbound traffic only between Third street and Railway).

COUNCILMEN WERE in general agreement with the sign request, noted the need for improving the Salmar-Hamilton area as funds become available but took a dim view of the two-way traffic idea.

Mayor Dean Chamberlin told LaMar he felt the downtown people tended to "jump to the bottom line" in asking for two-way traffic. They've reached the conclusion it would be a huge improvement and that's not necessarily true, Chamberlin added. The Mayor said he was inclined to agree with keeping the street one way . . . "when you consider what would have to be done to the streets at both ends (of the loops)."

LaMar told officials there is "great, unanimous feeling" among merchants that Campbell avenue should be a two-way street. Not one person with a financial interest in downtown is opposed to the change, he added, calling for a staff study to look into the switch.

"It was the staff's recommendation that (downtown Campbell avenue) be a one-way street," Councilman Bill Podgorsek noted. "I think we've beat this loop street thing to death. I don't know what else we can study," he added

Councilman Rusty Hammer resurrected the defunct downtown parking district in his comments on two-way traffic.

INSTEAD OF the present parking district that serves the Factory and Wrinkled Prune Annex area, the original plan would have covered the entire downtown area. After years of discussion and months of hearings the district failed when property owners declared the costs for the district had gone too high for them to handle. The city shouldered $100,000 of the cost for engineering and appraisals for the original district and some officials are still smarting over the failure. (Most of that cost will be recovered with the new parking district).

Hammer told LaMar he is "not adverse" to considering a change back to two-way traffic . . . "but I think it's foolish to look just at the traffic situation." He said an overall plan for downtown Campbell is needed including "the famous parking district" and the need for beautification. The changes should all be part of one effort, Hammer declared.

LaMar countered that the city has used the "shot gun" approach in the past in making changes and added he wasn't sure if changing the street back to two-way would alter parking significantly.

"OTHER CITIES have done things well in their downtown area," LaMar noted, citing Mt. View, Gilroy and Santa Cruz." I had hoped we wouldn't have a discussion of failures of the past (the parking district)," LaMar added, "we're talking of the future here."

At least one request will be included in future plans for the city.

Councilmen directed staff to look into additional signs for better identification of the downtown area. One idea that will get a cost study is an overhead sign for motorists using the Hamilton avenue offramp from Highway 17 southbound. The sign would direct traffic straight ahead, along Salmar, to the downtown area.

A trace of rain created slippery roadways in Campbell last week as the first fall weather made its appearance. But by this week the clouds were gone again and the smog layer obstructed a clear view of the hills (background). This photo was taken from the roof of the Wesley Manor senior citizen complex under construction on Winchester boulevard.

City may use grant funds for senior center

Campbell may be dipping into its reserve of federal housing and community development funds to come up with the bulk of costs to convert part of the lower level of the Campbell library into a senior citizen center.

Monday night officials directed staff to report back next week on the hearings that would be required before the city can use HCD funds to make up part of the city's $55,136 first year cost. Total costs for the first year would be $75,212 with $9,345 of that total for staffing and maintenance. The state has already approved $20,076 in funding for the center.

According to City Manager Bob Stephens, the city could use the $30,000 in the fourth year HCD contingency fund to make up part of the cost. The balance could be taken from the $275,000 set aside for acquisition or lease of the old Campbell grammar school site or from federal revenue sharing funds. In a report submitted by Stephens he said it would take a minimum of four months before the center opens after approval by the council. He set the possible opening date at February, 1979.

The only item in Stephens' report which came in for criticism Monday night was the staffing cost estimate of $17,420 yearly for a full time senior center coordinator.

Councilman Rusty Hammer said he opposes spending money to hire a full-time person.

"Other groups have gotten along with a lot less," Hammer noted.

Planning commission vacancy

Will someone please apply for city post?

CAMPBELL IS still one member short on the planning commission today and councilmen have extended the application period to October 2 after just one person applied by the September 1 deadline.

The apparent cause of the void in city government was confusion among the ranks during an earlier council session when none of the four hopefuls was appointed and the city reopened applications.

It all started when Commissioner Don Hebard announced he wouldn't seek a third four-year appointment when his term was up in August.

Instead of issuing a call for more applicants the council decided to consider four applicants who had applied for an opening in July if they were still interested. All four who were interviewed earlier indicated they were.

AT THE AUGUST meeting when the decision was to be made communication and Roberts Rules of Order apparently broke down.

One councilman submitted the name of an applicant. That nomination died for lack of a second, the Mayor ruled. Another councilman submitted a name, and a third, and all three failed for lack of a second. The problem was that no second was needed for nominations so the council actually had three applicants to vote on.

At this point a fourth councilman said he was concerned with just voting on a commissioner without any discussion and in short order the council opted to postpone the appointment and reopen the filing period to see if there were others interested too.

When the four were recontacted (again) to see if they were still interested, all four declined. One said she was now involved in two other appointments to county committees and one had signed up for night classes at a local college. The other two said, "No, thanks."

ONE COUNCILMAN expressed surprise Monday night when informed that the original four didn't want to be considered again.

So the city is out looking for the seventh planning commissioner again. And this time he or she won't need a second to the nomination to be considered.

Application forms are available at the City Clerk's office, 75 N. Central ave. weekdays. For information call 378-8141.

Locallite helps victims of Guatamala quake

MARIA and her three children, shown above, are in good health today thanks to an American organization who brought food and medical supplies to Guatamala after it was struck by an earthquake. Among group members was former Campbell girl, Lisa Dewhurst, who spent a year in the country giving medical care.

By VICKI JOHNSON

THREE years ago an earthquake shook Guatamala so violently it destroyed hundreds of homes and buildings, killed thousands of people and completely leveled many parts of the country.

But, thanks to millions of people worldwide who shared in the rescue, including a former Campbell girl, the people were fed and clothed and the S. American country is well on its way to rebuilding its cities.

Lias Dewhurst, 25, explained how she and her husband, Thomas, wound up as part of a rescue crew sent to Guatamala.

"My husband, son, and I live in Summerton Tennessee in a spiritual community with 1,750 acres and 1,200 people. We call our community 'The Farm' and in it we have doctors, teachers, farmers, carpenters, all kinds of people in all kinds of professions. We also have a relief organization made up of people from The Farm called 'Plenty.' Plenty is a non-profit organization that provides aid (food and medical care) to needy people all over the world.

"WHEN the earthquake hit Guatamala three years ago," she continued, "we sent down a couple to stake it out for possibilities on how we could help. The couple hooked up with some Canadians who were doing the same thing."

According to Dewhurst, the town the organization worked with primarily was Itzeapa, located in the state of Chimaltenengo.

"Chimaltenengo was the state most damaged in Guatamala," she said, "and Itzeapa was one of the most damaged cities in that state."

After learning from the couple that there was much they could do, the group's carpenters traveled to Itzeapa and, using materials provided by Canada, began to rebuild the city.

"Our organization worked constructing schools and houses first," Dewhurst reported.

SHORTLY after the carpenters arrived, word was sent that there was a desperate need for medical aid. Upon hearing this, Dewhurst, her family and others with medical knowhow left to help their neighbors in Guatamala.

"I had never seen so many people so sick as when I got there," Dewhurst remembered. "Most of them were malnurished, she noted, and there were dozens of cases of worms or typhoid. The biggest problems the Indians have is bad water or not enough water.

"People have to carry water on their heads for miles so they rarely bathe. There are few outhouses in town, no immunizations, and too many needless deaths because the people don't know how to do even the simplest thing like boil water for hygiene."

Basically, her job was to feed these people, treat their illnesses, and show them how to take better care of themselves.

DEWHURST and her family have only been back in the U.S. for a little over a month. They returned to Tennessee briefly and then traveled to Campbell to visit her parents, Doris and James St. Germaine, 993 Audrey ave. July 19 the Dewhursts returned to Summerton.

According to Dewhurst, several people from the organization are still in Guatamala, mostly carpenters. "A few builders have stayed to complete the last of five major buildings they promised to construct. Everyone will be back in Tennessee by October."

FIFTEEN month old Mark Dewhurst, son of Westmont High School graduate Lisa Dewhurst who spent a year in Guatamala giving medical aid after it was struck by an earthquake, is photographed in front of his parent's tent home shortly before the family returned to the U.S. The Dewhursts lived in tent quarters for the entire year they stayed in Guatamala.

A new military party has just come into power in Guatamala that is very anti-American, she explained.

The Westmont High School graduate concluded she is optimistic for the future of the people in Itzeapa. Those South American neighbors are now trained in modern farming techniques, hygiene, and have a brand new city.

Can Campbell become martial arts mecca?

By CHUCK HILDEBRAND

Within a few years Campbell could be the martial arts capital of the United States.

That's the opinion of George Chung of Choi's Institute of Tae Kwon Do, 3118 Impala dr.

Chung is one of six representatives of the Campbell martial arts center who have formed a touring demonstration group.

The group recently returned from a tour of Korea and is slated to make visits to Atlanta, Dallas, New York and other U.S. cities soon.

And one of their aims is to help put Campbell on the map.

"I feel that we have the hottest martial arts group in the United States," Chung said. "We've played before audiences ranging from two or three hundred to 2,000 and the response has been very strong. All we've lacked is publicity, and once we get that we hope people will begin identifying us with Campbell."

The group, in addition to Chung, includes instructor and coordinator Ernie Reyes, Scott Coker, Margie Betke, Allison Baker and Belinda Davis.

Reyes, a Campbell resident, is the U.S. lightweight Tae Kwon Do champion.

MEMBERS OF THE group, according to Chung, have been involved with martial arts for only three to five years, compared to 15 or 20 years for most members of similar groups. They range in age from 14 to 18.

Chung thinks his group's type of presentation, in time, will be a very lucrative draw because it is both aesthetically and physically appealing.

"We combine the traditional aspects of martial arts with a contemporary demonstration that people are more accustomed to seeing," Chung said.

Chung said the contemporary portion of the program consists of fight scenes similar to those associated with Bruce Lee and other modern martial arts figures. The members square off against each other and go through their repertoire of defensive moves.

That part of the program is in contrast to the much more passive traditional element, which incorporates music, costuming and other devices to emphasize the self-discipline and beauty of the art.

"WHEN A PERSON first goes to watch our show, he's either wary, because of the bad image a lot of people have about martial arts, or he's inquisitive because it's something new that he wants to learn about," Chung observed.

"What we try to get across is that we're practioners of a discipline sport, and that to be good at it you must have a strong degree of self-discipline," Chung said. "At the same time, we try to entertain the audience."

"By the time they walk out of the auditorium," Chung added, "we hope to convince them that martial arts are beautiful yet stimulating and practical."

Chung considers the most rewarding part of participation in Tae Kwon Do the self-confidence and self-discipline it has instilled in him.

"It's given me a positive outlook on life," the Campbell High School student claimed. "Being in martial arts gives you the ability to look at any obstacle and say, 'I can do it'."

He's been involved with martial arts for four years and is a first degree black belt. All members of the troupe are black belts.

For Chung and the others, preparation is a year-round endeavor. He says they work out five or six times per week for one to three hours.

"You need more than physical ability to succeed in martial arts," he stressed. "You must also have a high degree of mental discipline. At our studio we try to give an all-around program with equal emphasis on both aspects. But ultimately, success depends on your attitude."

Just try to find a street address here

By PAT SAFFORD

A ROSE BY ANY other name may smell as sweet but a street by another name is downright confusing.

One case in point is that eight block straight stretch of road that begins at Rincon avenue and ends at Westmont. Within that short distance San Tomas Aquino road becomes Fenian drive . . . then Harriet avenue and finally Abbott.

And if that weren't confusing enough to the motorist trying to locate an address, San Tomas Aquino doesn't just disappear for that eight block stretch, it moves. Along Fenian drive San Tomas Aquino suddenly runs one block parallel . . . to the west and then hooks up with Fenian near the creek crossing. From there it departs from Harriet with a sharp jog to the east where it winds along beside the creek and then makes a straight shot for Pollard road . . . where it turns into Burrows road just two blocks north of Pollard.

A town planner with a Machiavellian mind couldn't have done a better job of creating mass confusion if he tried. But no one tried here. It just happened as that once orchard land developed into residential neighborhoods.

Campbell recently decided to try and come to grips with the problem but it isn't just a city dilemma. Parts of that road are in San Jose and other sections unincorporated county land.

EVENTUALLY THE Harriet-Abbott end of the road will be continued on through to Pollard and it would be logical to have the entire stretch of road designated San Tomas Aquino road.

Perhaps the two block stretch of San Tomas Aquino west of Fenian could be renamed Fenian and the rest of the road that eventually hooks up with Pollard could be called Burrows road.

But before this, or any other solution can be affected, the three jurisdictions will have to have a meeting of the minds and give residents a chance to give their opinions.

I feel that, instead of meeting in some stuffy conference room with maps and charts lining the walls, representatives of the three powers should take a field trip to the area so they can see, first hand, just how mixed up the street names are.

After a drive through they could designate a meeting spot, for instance, at the corner of Fenian-San Tomas Aquino-Harriet.

But maybe that's not such a good idea after all . . . They'd never find it!

LOCAL MAN SOUGHT IN GRAND THEFT

Police are seeking a local man for questioning after the owner of a large supply firm on Railway avenue reported the theft of 40 tons of steel rods and $5,000 in cash over the last two years.

The employee reportedly admitted to the owner he had been "double ordering;" selling supplies to customers at a reduced rate and pocketing the money.

Total loss in the theft was estimated at $17,000.

STOLEN VAN USED IN THEFTS

A white van reported stolen from the parking lot of a McGlincy lane business last week was apparently used to remove almost 200 bundles of roofing shingles from two roofing companies on Dillon avenue.

According to police reports, the storage yards of Glen Monroe Roofing and Cal-Pacific Roofing, both on Dillion, were broken into Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning and $2,509 in shingles taken. Glen Monroe suffered the bulk of the loss.

Investigating officers found carpet and pad remnents in the storage yard after the thefts, apparently left there that night when the shingles were stolen.

Also reported stolen was the van which belonged to a carpet company. It has not been recovered.

Total value of all three thefts is more than $8,500.

ASSAULT WITH A DEADLY WEAPON

Police are seeking the suspect in an assault on a local man Friday morning who was reportedly wearing a dark, blue nylon jacket with a silver, star shaped badge.

According to reports, a local couple, their two children and a friend were taking a walk early Friday morning along California street near Catalpa lane when a car drove by, slowed and then made a U-turn and returned.

The man, fearing for his wife and children's safety, sent them across the street and the driver of the car then came at the local man with a knife. As the victim fled north on California street he reportedly fell over some shrubbery causing lacerations to his face.

The wife screamed and ran towards her husband apparently scaring off the attacker. The car and its occupants sped off southbound on California.

A second suspect reportedly also exited the car with a knife but did not threaten the family. He tried to calm down the attacker, according to the victim and witnesses.

LISA WAY HOME BURGLARIZED

A home on Lisa way was reportedly broken into last Tuesday and camera equipment, records, a stero and TV stolen.

Total value of the burglary was set at $1,426.

The merits of the case weren't reviewed

PRESS arena

Regarding the lawsuit of the Save Our Schools committee versus the Campbell Union School District. Obviously, I am most disappointed in the outcome of this lawsuit. My concern at this point in time, however, centers around the fact that so many have misconstrued the actual meaning of the recent decision by Judge Zecher and I'm especially concerned with how the press pictures the plaintiff to the community in this action. I would like to explain to the board and the community, and the press, what that decision says and means.

It is important that the community and the board realize that this summary judgement is a judgement based solely on the pleadings presented and for that reason, the merits of this case were never reached.

Over and over and over within her decision the judge states, "the plaintiffs have set forth no facts; plaintiffs introduce no affidavits; judgement on the pleadings is granted as no cause of action is stated; the court finds as a matter of law, there are no triable issues of fact and summary judgement is granted."

I believe we had ample facts which unfortunately were not presented to the court by counsel; and, had they been presented, this suit, I believe, would have proceeded to trial.

This lawsuit stands where it now is, not because it was without merit, but because it was without pleadings.

In addition, it's interesting to note that the court does not address herself in that decision to the section of code 39384 that pertains to the district advisory committee and when and under what circumstances that committee shall be used and formed.

I can only guess that she chose to avoid that particular section. I would like to remind the board and the press that this action was brought to halt a PROCESS by which the district chose to close schools and also due to the lack of AUTHENTIC community imput in that decision-making process, not solely to halt the closure of schools.

I state again, as I did early in 1978 that it is my belief the district may not pick and choose among which conditions they wish to utilize that advisory committee. They must form and use that committee under sale, lease, and closure of schools, and closure of schools is not when you declare the property surplus but when you want to move students out of that facility.

It might be interesting for the board and community to know that I discussed at length this section of the code with a legislator and that legislator indicated to me that my interpretation is correct and yes, school districts are interpreting that section to their convenience. He indicated to me that the intent of the legislature is clear in that regard. When I asked that legislator what I might do to rectify that situation, he indicated that I was doing one of the few things that could be done — bringing suit against that school district.

As to where this lawsuit now lies, the next move is for the plaintiffs to file an appeal based on the summary judgement decision. As for myself, I am uncomfortable with proceeding under the circumstances in appealing that decision, in addition to the time and costs required for such an appeal. I feel, however, those in SOS who wish to proceed have a good chance, with the right approach, of winning the appeal.

Obviously this district still must contend not only with declining enrollment, but with very large financial problems and this district, for all practical purposes, is planning to close another school in a few years. I maintain that you know which school you are going to close. I am begging you to deal with the community in a working, decision-making process.

Don't just use the letter of the law and interpret it to your advantage, look to it intent and morality. Go to those community members in that school that you plan to close, tell them what you want to do and find a way together to work out all the specifics and difficulties that school closure brings upon a community and a district.

I would think too, that the board might want to look seriously into directing their administration in inviting, the two state agencies whose primary purpose is to provide school districts with information on the various aspects of school and district operation. These two agencies are the Bureau of Management Services and the Bureau of School Facilities Planning and their major functions are to provide information and assistance to school districts in establishing effective management practices and efficient facility use practices under declining enrollment circumstances.

The district needs but request their services and certainly, you have nothing to lose in having them study our district.

An Affair to Remember with BEA RENÉ
© Bea Rene 1976

My friends & I enjoyed ordering from the clever menu at LE PAVILION (top of the LE BARON HOTEL) . . . the menu encompasses many selections incl. cold appetizers (Scampi Bordelaise), Soups (Vichyssoise), & our party ordered a thick Filet Mignon, Veal au Marsala, & Abalone Steak Sante. If you've never experienced dining at the LE PAVILION w/the added enhancement of a spectacular view from the penthouse, you're in for a treat.

Now that lunch is being served at GATSBY'S, this restaurant is very busy — lunches are priced $2.95 $5.95 & incls. BBQ Prime Rib Bones, Open Face Prime Rib Sandwich, N.Y. Steak Sandwiches, BBQ Chicken, Beef, Veal & Lamb Kabobs. Or, select from their Oyster Bar upstairs in the lounge/loft. During dinner talented Harry Gibson plays lilting melodies, picking up the beat later in the evening. All in all, you'll find great service & excellent cuisine.

One of the great family treats is taking "the group" out to a Chinese restaurant where all the kiddies can order to their heart's content — mixing & matching Chinese entrees. There's something very festive about a Chinese feast — every dinner is just like a holiday. The relaxed atmosphere at the HWEI FU SHING is compatible to families & Chef/owner Pang On Lui rolls out the red carpet to everyone. Visit soon.

Appeal of sign edict is successful for merchant

James M. Dresbach was successful in his appeal of a ruling of the Planning Director and Sign Review Committee last week as the Planning Commission gave him permission for signs facing Campbell avenue.

The applicant, who operates Atkins Television, 2051 S. Winchester blvd., received approval for new signing on the part of the building facing Winchester but was turned down on signs for the north side of the building. The front signs are adequate, the director and committee ruled.

In his letter of appeal Dresbach said he felt the denial was discriminatory and listed 44 businesses along a two block area which have signs on more than one side of their buildings. (The old Campbell Press office was one cited.)

The commission unanimously approved Dresbach's request with the deletion of some advertising.

In other action the commission:

• Approved plans by Marvin Bamburg to construct 36 condominium units at 3595 S. Bascom ave.

• Granted an extension of time on the development of a 105-unit senior citizen apartment complex at 250 Budd ave. The applicants, Robert McKee and Corinthian House have reportedly applied to the federal department of housing and urban development (HUD) for a building loan.

• Approved an adjustment to the side yard setback requirement to allow Ray Spafford to build a two-story addition to his home at 59 Alice ave.

• Recommended approval on three applications for the W. Rincon ave. area; a zone change and approval of plans for 12 townhomes at 338 and 350 W. Rincon ave. and a zone change from multiple family/medium density residential to planned development/medium density residential for property at 338 W. Rincon ave.

• Approved plans for construction of an industrial building at 70 Cristich lane in a light industrial zone for Chris Cristich.

Housing complex boosts building tally for August

A $1.5 million apartment complex on S. Basom avenue was the big ticket item on the August building report released by Campbell Building Official Wally Byron.

Total value of building activity last month was $3.7 million with the apartment by Lacon Builders at 3685 S. Bascom avenue the largest single project.

Construction of townhomes and residences brought in $1.6 million in value for the month bringing the total to date to $9.2 million for 192 dwellings. The largest home developments last month were for Totah, Tate & Lee on Pollard road and Ira Ellison on W. Rincon avenue.

Total building value through August was $22.9 million, almost double last year's total to date of $12 million.

Singing-sewing and sketching classes set at local YMCA

Would you like to learn Chinese brush painting, belly dance or graphology? How about going along on an expedition to Big Basin State Park to photograph mushrooms?

These are just a few of the dozens of classes for youths and adults being offered this fall by the Cambrian YWCA Center, 4343 Leigh ave., San Jose.

Advance registration is now underway and an open house is shceduled for Thursday, September 21 from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Most classes begin the following week.

Among offerings this fall are Christmas crafts, cooking with natural foods, oil painting, interior design, a sexuality workshop and a women's rap group.

Also offered are classes in volleyball, sign language, yoga and the Y-Zingers chorus.

Youth classes include sewing, ballet, moms and tots crafts, sketching and disco dance.

So that parents of young children can take part in the local YMCA center programs, child care is available at a nominal fee.

"NO, JASON, you're not too late to sign up for diaper gym at the Cambrian YWCA Center," says Darren Gentile-Smith. Jason Luebbers, left, of Campbell, and John Smith, right, will be among those in the eight weeks to 13 months gym group that gets underway soon. Open house at the 4343 Leigh ave. center is set for Thursday, September 21 from 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Our new Buick stalls frequently both at slow and high speeds. We have returned it to the dealer at least eight times and each time we are told that the "problem" has been corrected. It hasn't. The car still stalls with no warning. The last time it quit we were almost rear ended on a freeway approach ramp. The dealer says, "it is not the car's fault, you just don't know how to drive it." Please help us with this problem.

John & Barbara Pace, Menlo Park.

The dealer is wrong and he should have received a factory service bulletin on this specific problem several months ago. This problem affects almost a half million 1977 Oldsmobile, Buick and Pontiac cars equipped with the V6 engine. The cars can stall during any phase of operation.

At this point, no recall has been issued and the numerous complaints are being handled by G.M. on an after-the-fact, individual basis. You can expedite the recall process by reporting your problem to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration on their toll free hotline - (800) 424-9393. At this point an investigation is taking place and public input will serve to force G.M. toward prompt action.

Sept. 16 through Sept. 22

ARIES (Mar. 21 - Apr. 19): Intuition takes you by the hand, Air, and leads you down brand-new pathway. Don't intellectualize. There is a time to think and a time to feel, and this week you'd do well to just heed your hunches. Week ends with a wink.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): Union, separation high-lighted. Don't interfere with the natural rhythm, Taurus, for the sweetness of reunion is sure to follow. Busy week ends on key of G, for "gusto" — and nobody manages to take yours away.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Associate may try to jam up the works as far as your personal affairs are concerned. Outrageous as it may seem, Gem, this pinhead actually plans to outwit, outfox and out-maneuver you. Ha! Fat chance!

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Personal problem needs light and air, Moonbaby. When you turn mirror into window solution becomes clear. Pain fades as understanding increases. On last day, you pull shade, rank and muscle.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Dear, sweet, wonderful Leo, you are usually just seething with ideas and conversation. This week, however, you'd be wide to harness energy and use ginger to spice up life in bedroom. In short, friend, make less noise and more love. End of sermon.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Bogged-down buddy needs assistance. Offer any aid and comfort your time and wallet will permit. So you cast your bread upon the water — odds are excellent that you will get back much more than just soggy bread.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Full Moon coincides with new ideas. You can renew old friendship/flame, Libra, for you have more in common than in conflict. Concerning "hot tip" — don't invest that first farthing without consulting trusted pro. Week ends with a snort.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Informal mood prevails. Someone sets dainty dish before you, Scorp. It may not be "four-and twenty blackbirds", still — you gobble it up, relishing every tasty morsel. Bon Appetit.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Casual remark may strike emotional jugular. Try not to bleed all over the place — messy, you know. Travel, correspondence highlighted. Week of many choices ends on key of B, for busy, break, brain and bonkers.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Full Moon ideal time to launch new venture. Consult trusted ally. Listen (for a change) to one who is old pro. You're bright as a new penny, Cap, but you still don't know all the answers. In fact, you don't yet know all of the questions. Week ends on positive note.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18): Grab-bag week ahead contains one special goody. Be open to new ideas. You learn much, Aquari, if you will just slow down, shut up and listen. Not an easy assignment but one you must consider. Last day you get lucky. Ummm.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Conflict with smarty-pants associate apt to arise. Turn deaf ear to this twit. You have what it takes to succeed, Pisces, so plant your fins firmly in the mud and refuse to be bullied. Last day compliment comes your way and you don't even have to fish for it.

Ballet to star Nagy, Tcherkassky in San Jose

The Founders Series Ballet will feature Ivan Nagy and Marianna Tcherkassky joining the Stars of American Ballet in their performance in San Jose at the Center for the Performing Arts on Sept. 15 at 8 p.m.

It was originally planned that Peter Martins and Suzanne Farrell would dance featured roles, but owing to considerations of their health and career, Nagy and Tcherkassky have been selected to "star."

Hungarian born, Nagy has become world-famed for his warm, romantic allusions and his big, manipulative features of dance.

Tcherkassky, a principle dancer with the American Ballet Theatre of New York, is known for her poignant dance reflections and her striking role interpretations.

For ballet tickets call San Jose Box Office, Top Hat Tickets, Peninsula Box Office, Santa Cruz Box Office, The Music Tree, The Emporium, Macy's or any major ticket facility.

You're invited to a buffet, where you learn about growing up, instead of growing old.
You can drop by for a tour anytime, but this Sunday, at the Retirement Inn of San Jose, we're having one of our excellent buffets from one to three. You'll learn something, too. That growing older doesn't have to mean growing old.
Which is why we never talk much about our excellent food and luxurious rooms — or our exciting group-outings to plays, concerts and fine restaurants. We have something more important to talk about and that's the free spirit you'll find here.
We firmly believe growing older isn't the end of life but the beginning of a whole new way of life. And so we're dedicated to maintaining the just-right balance of security, personal attention, companionship . . . and the freedom we all need to feel fully alive.
Which seems to be why, though the average age here is 79, no one seems to be counting. We do all the cooking, cleaning and laundry so you're free to relax, try new hobbies, make new friends and visit old ones. We're at 1185 Pedro Street, 2 blocks off the Meridian Off-ramp. Route 280.
Or give us a call at 275-9040.

BUC LEADER — Big 6'4", 245 pound tackle Steve Aimonetti will lead the Campbell football team into battle this fall. The Buc giant, back for his third varsity season, will lead Campbell into action Friday against Willow Glen in a 3 p.m. home game in the season opener.

Big Bucs take aim at title

By DICK SPARRER
Sports Editor

TEAMS WILL certainly be looking up to the Campbell high school football team in the 1978 season — and if the Buccaneers have their way, it will be in more ways than one!

Many teams in the West Valley Athletic League will have to physically look up to the Bucs this fall as another large crop of football players have turned out this fall on the Campbell field — large in size, not in numbers.

And if things go well, and that means injury-free, those Bucs might just have teams looking up to them in the 1978 WVAL standings.

Steve Aimonetti, a 6'4" and 245 tackle, is back for his third varisty season this fall and leads the big group of Bucs.

Aimonetti will lead the Buc charge in both the offensive and defensive lines this season and he finds himself as the center of the Buccaneer strength.

"Our strength this season will be in our offensive line and at quarterback," said first year head coach Wayne Brooks looking ahead to the season. "We've got some big people in the line and coach (Al) Matthews has done one super job getting them together in their blocking assignments. They've been super in their get-off and their blocking."

AIMONETTI WILL hold down one tackle spot in the Buc front wall and Dave Profit, a 6'4" and 205 pounder, will be the other tackle. Letterman Manuel Rodriguez, a 6' and 184 pounder, and Terry Meyer, a 6' and 185 pounder, will hold down guard jobs and Greg Campodonico, a 6'1" and 185 pound letterman, will start at center.

Tim Moriarty, a 6' and 185 pounder up from the junior varsity, is currently the number one Buc tight end.

Letterman Jeff Melrose, a 6'2" and 160 pounder, and transfer Bob Greisinger, a 6'1" and 180 pounder, are fighting it out for the number one quarterback spot.

"They both throw real well and they both have extremely good qualities at quarterback," said Brooks. "They will each see a lot of action at quarterback and when one is starting, the other will start for us in the defensive secondary."

Returner Jack Murdick, a 5'9" and 155 pounder, and sophomore James Silva, a 5'7" and 154 pounder, are now alternating at running back with Dan Romeo, a 5'11" and 175 pounder, the fullback. Letterman Dave Sasscer is Romer's back-up at fullback and also is the team's placekicker. Silvas is also a placekicker and will do Campbell's punting.

DAVE ERKMAN is up from the jv's and will play the slotback position for Campbell and Ken Schmidt will be the Buc split end.

Defensively, Campodonico will be the Buc middle guard with Aimonetti and Rick Reed, a 6' and 235 pounder, at tackles and Romeo and Rodriguez at ends. Howard Hansen and Neil McGuire, both up from the jv's, are starting at linebacker posts.

Meyer and Andy Boe, a 6'3" and 200 pound letterman currently sidelined with an injury, should see considerable action at linebacker and sophomore Bob Turk, a 6'4" and 195 pounder just joining the team recently after an illness, is a top candidate at defensive end.

Schmidt, junior Juan Rodriguez and sophomore Wade Allison are top defensive backs for Campbell along with Melrose, Greisinger, Murdick, Erkman, Silvas and Mike Silvas.

Letterman end Kevin Bradley, a 6'3" and 185 pounder, has just returned to the club after a bout with the flu and is a top prospect for 1978.

"WE'RE TRYING to put things together," said Brooks, who rates Los Gatos as the WVAL team to beat. "I have to think that we'll be the darkhorse."

"We'll be taking them one game at a time," he added. "We're small in numbers and injuries could hurt us. Whenever you're small in numbers, you have to shift people around a lot."

"But we've got some boys who want to play and their attitude's been great so far," he said. "It just all depends on how the injuries hold up."

Brooks, the Campbell freshman coach for the past four years and the jv coach for four years before that, will be assisted this fall by former Buc head coach Al Matthews and former Campbell grid star Steve Garrido.

Campbell will open the 1978 season on Friday at home in a 3 p.m. game against Willow Glen.

After the non-league test, the Bucs will open the WVAL season on Friday, Sept. 22, in a 3:30 p.m. game against Leigh on the Longhorn field.

Matthews steps down, Brooks new Buc boss

By DICK SPARRER
Sports Editor

FOR THE PAST nine years, Al Matthews has been the head man on the sidelines when the Campbell high school football teams have headed into action for their season openers.

Well, Matthews recently resigned his position as the Buccaneer head coach. So when Campbell opens the 1978 season on Friday against Willow Glen, Matthews won't be the man in charge on the Buc side of the field — but he will be on the Campbell sidelines.

Matthews has not dropped his ties with the Campbell high school football team — he's just shifted positions!

Matthews, the Buc head coach since 1969, stepped down as the head coach but remains as the Campbell defensive coordinator and offensive line coach on the staff of first year head coach Wayne Brooks.

Brooks enters his first season as the Buc top man after serving for the past four years as the Campbell freshman football coach and for four years before that as the Buc junior varsity boss.

"I'VE ENJOYED the kids and my years as the head coach, but it was just time for me to step down," said Matthews. "I'll be an assistant coach and I'm very pleased to be working with coach Brooks. He'll get the job done — he's well organized and the kids like him."

"I started out the season as the head coach and I was excited about the year," admitted Matthews. "But there were just too many disappointments. It was just all the little problems."

"We're short on coaching personnel and we've had financial problems," he added. "A football coach goes through a lot of worries. I was concerned about my health and the program so I decided to step down. I just didn't want that kind of pressure any more."

"His approach towards the whole situation has been that of a professional," added Brooks. "He's given 100 percent to those kids out there and I've been extremely pleased with the job he's done."

"He's an excellent football coach and a personal friend," said Brooks. "He's going to be great for me."

Brooks and Matthews, along with assistant coach Steve Garrido, will lead their Bucs into action for the first time in 1978 on Friday in a 3 p.m. game against Willow Glen on the Campbell field.

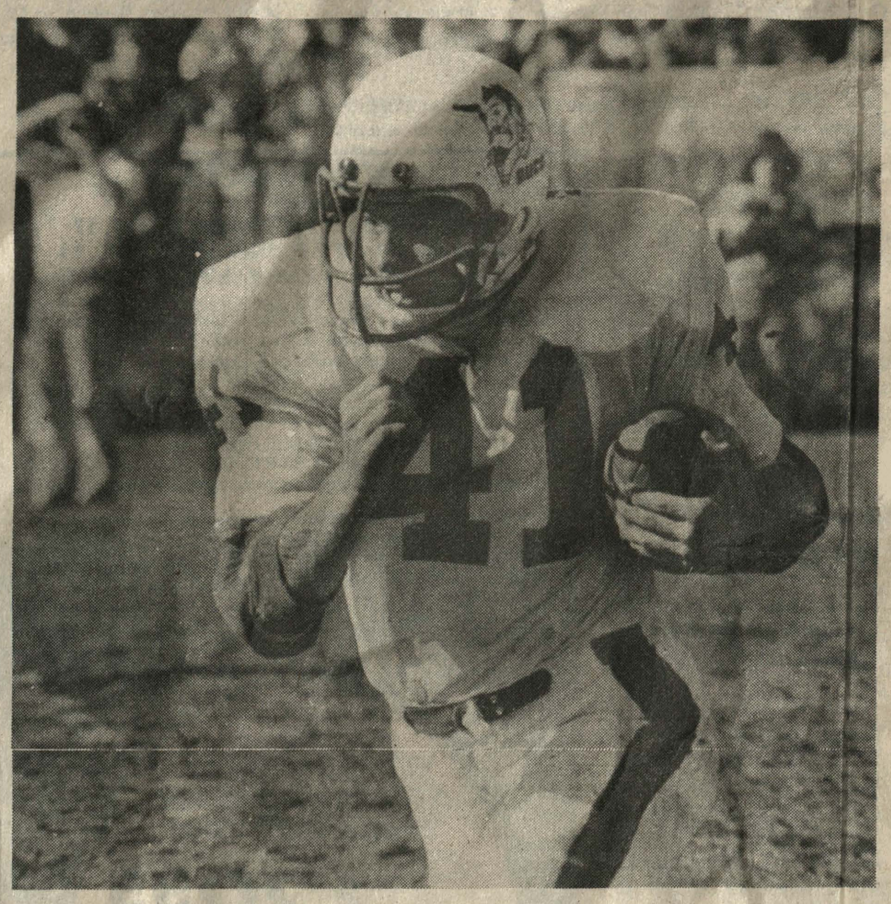
Tennis classes slated

A RECREATION tennis class, developed by Foothill College tennis coach Tom Chivington and Stanford University tennis coach Dick Gould, is being offered by the Campbell Community Services Department.

Classes will begin Monday, Sept. 18, at Campbell high school. Registration is currently being taken for the class at 75 N. Central avenue in Campbell. There is a $13.50 registration fee.

The program will include six hours of intensive instruction plus a booklet of basic strokes and doubles strategy.

For further information call 378-8141, ext. 252.



SPEEDY BACK — Letterman Jack Murdick returns to lead the Campbell running attack this fall. Murdick and sophomore James Silva will alternate at the halfback spot for the Bucs this season with Dan Romeo at fullback.

Dons could suprise WVAL again in '78

THE DEL MAR Dons were the real surprise of the West Valley Athletic League football race last year, remaining in the thick of the title chase until the last couple of weeks.

No one expected the Dons to contend last year and few are expecting them to contend this year. But if Del Mar's offense can jell, Don head coach Ron Leimbach feels his club could surprise a few people again in '78.

"I think the key to our season will be what our offensive line does," said Leimbach, entering his second year at the Del Mar helm. "We have good people at the skill positions. If we jell offensively, we should be all right."

Del Mar's hopes then center around the play of offensive line members Bill Veteran, Dave Castillo, Tim Sutro, Jeff Barone, Dave Naganest and Chuck Wiefels.

VETERAN AND Castillo are the candidates for the starting center position, although Castillo is still recovering from a broken foot. Veteran will open the season at center.

SUTRO, A SOPHOMORE, and Baron, a returning letterman, are the guards while junior varsity product Naganest and letterman Wiefels are the tackles.

Kendall Hansen, who has varsity experience, rounds out the line at tight end.

The Don backfield will be composed of Bruce Prothro at quarterback, Eric Wilson at fullback and either Todd Scolari or Scott Evans at halfback. Rich Lopez will serve as Prothro's back-up.

Joe Mederios and Jim Holman will share the wide receiver duties.

Leimbach is very high on Holman, who played jayvee ball last year. "He's a good one," said the Don boss.

Last year the Dons won quite a few games thanks to a tenacious defense. This year Leimbach expects more of the same.

"I think our defense will be stronger than last year," said Leimbach. "And we had a pretty good defense last year."

HEADING UP the Dons' defensive line will be Sutro, Naganest, Wiefels and noseguard Kirk Quadros.

"I think Quadros is going to be one of the better nosebuards in the league," predicted Leimbach.

Earthquake season ticket prices to remain the same

SEASON ticket prices for the San Jose Earthquakes' 1979 campaign will remain at the 1978 level with midfield reserved, sideline reserved and family plan seating available on a season ticket basis, it was announced by the Quakes' front office.

Fans who held season tickets in 1978 will be able to renew their tickets for 1979 at the same discount renewal rate that they enjoyed in 1978. Current season ticket holders have until Sept. 22, to renew under the discount offer.

If a current season ticket holder does not renew before Sept. 22, he or she can still retain their same seats up until Oct. 20, but must pay the full season ticket price.

The full season ticket prices for new season ticket members will also remain at the 1978 levels.

THE QUAKES' popular family plan will cost $180 for 15 home games. The two-adult, two-youth (under 18) package can be renewed with a $40 deposit. If a family has additional children, each extra seat requires an additional $10 deposit. The Earthquakes sold 6,399 season tickets through the family plan alone in 1978.

The 15 game season ticket prices are: midfield reserved, $95 ($90 if renewed by Sept. 22); sideline reserved, $70 ($65 if renewed by Sept. 22); youth sideline reserved, $40 ($35 if renewed by Sept. 22); and sideline reserved family plan, $195 ($180 if renewed by Sept. 22).

Defense the word at Westmont this year

FOR THE PAST couple of year the Westmont Warriors have been a very offensive-minded football team, ranking among the league leaders in putting points on the scoreboard.

But that might all change in 1978. This year the Warriors appear to have the makings of a defensive team—and a good one at that!

"We run a basic 50 defense," said head coach Don Stagnaro, who enters his ninth season at the Warrior helm. "This should and needs to be the strongest area of the team."

Experience is what makes the Warrior defense shape-up to be so strong. Nine of last year's 11 starters on defense return to the line-up in '78.

Not only will the Warriors have experience on defense, but they'll also have plenty of depth.

Bob Hatzenpiller and Ken Pappa are currently battling for the nose guard spot while Greg Gorman, Matt Gregory and Rick Lococo will all see action at the tackles.

"The two defensive end areas are wide open," noted Stagnaro, who named Jim Weckler, Carey Burke, Shawn Kelly, Bill Zirzow, Mike Kasolas and Bruce Blacker as candidates for the two jobs.

"Our linebackers should be the strongest area on the team," added Stagnaro.

Bill Stouffer, an all-leaguer last year, and Rich Elson "are among the best in the league," according to Stagnaro. Backing them up will be Kevin Crawford and Gary Barden.

The defensive secondary will be composed of Todd Devlin, and Perry Lunt at the corners, either Tim Mooney or Manuel Gandarilla at strong safety, and either Louie Leis or Steve Moore at free safety.

Paul Hamill, Vic Herrera and John Wright will also see action at cornerback.

Offensively, Stagnaro will continue to run a balanced attack at Westmont, running from the basic pro set.

Mike Grado, last year's back-up to Scott Ruiz, will take over the quarterbacking duties. Bill Ebert will serve as his back-up.

Lunt and Herrera are vying for the tailback spot while Gandarilla and Elson fight for the fullback berth.

THE RECEIVING corps will be made up of Steve Moore, at split end and Ebert at tight end. Other wide receivers include Leis, Mooney, Todd Devlin, Paul Hamill and John Wright.

Tight end reserves include Mike Kasolas and Rich Perez.

The offensive line will be composed of center Kevin Crawford, backed by Hatzenpiller; guards Stouffer and Pappa, backed by Gary Barden and Zirzow; and tackle Greg Gorman. Matt Gregory, Weckler, Burke, Lococo and Kelly are battling each other for the second tackle position.

Assisting Stagnaro this year will be Glen Massenglae, who will handle the backs, and Jim Clifton, who will work with the line.

The Warriors open their season Friday afternoon at home against the Los Altos Knights in a 3:30 p.m. non-league game.

Westmont kicks-off its WVAL campaign a week last, Sept. 22, at home against the Branham Bruins in another 3:30 p.m. test.

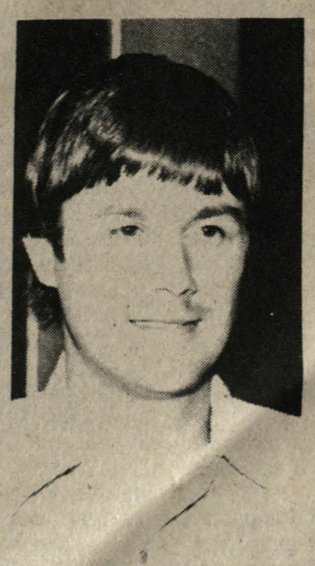
Pini named acting chief



Acting Fire Chief Tony Pini

City Manager Bob Stephens named Battalion Chief Tony Pini acting fire chief for the City of Campbell last Wednesday, replacing Battalion Chief Sal Leonardi who has served in that capacity since shortly after Chief Gene Borden was stricken by a series of heart attacks in April.

Borden later underwent open heart surgery and is on medical leave from his duties. The chief is currently under treatment at the Los Gatos-Saratoga Hospital rehabilitation center.

According to Stephens, the change in acting chief was made so the additional duties could be rotated between the city's two battalion chiefs. Pini is also the department training officer and oversees the paramedic program.

Leonardi returns to his duties in the services division of the department which includes his job as city fire marshall.
